

Dear Hiring Manager,

I came across the role of UX Designer at Accenture Digital and am very interested. The acquisition of MXM by Accenture Interactive is extremely exciting, and I would love to be part of the team, designing disruptive, innovative digital products.

My innate curiosity of the unfamiliar has resulted in me being a practitioner of lifelong learning, evident in my resume. My curiosity, combined with my always practiced empathy, allows me to learn quickly and produce strong, impactful work.

My career has been spent in small organizations working to stretch limited resources to achieve a tangible impact. I am scrappy, resourceful and an incredibly hard-working team player who never wants to let their team down.

In addition to my strong UX skills, I am able to code with HTML, CSS, and Javascript comfortably. (My portfolio is coded from scratch.) Having these skills allow for a more informed design process as I know what it takes to code every aspect of a design/prototype, leading to an improvement in the company's bottom line.

I hope that you consider me for the role and look forward to hearing from you.

Thank you,
Emma
